Thank you for your interest in submitting your work for consideration to ICM Photography Magazine (ICMPhotoMag).

Readers' Gallery ~ Required Materials for Submission

If after reading through all the information below you are still interested in submitting your work for consideration in an upcoming issue of the e-magazine, this is what I ask you to provide:

- 1 jpg image of your best ICM or creatively post-processed ICM work (at least 2000px on the long side, no watermarks or logos, no frames, no borders, and previously unpublished, if possible but not required)

- Titles and/or descriptions of your images

- Links to your photography website and/or all social media platforms

Where to Submit

The preferred method for submissions is via this link –

Readers' Gallery - Google Form Submission

If for some reason the form does not work for you, a submission can alternately be made either by email, in a shared Google Drive folder, or via Dropbox or WeTransfer to info@icmphotomag.com. However, please try the submission form first.

Once I've had a chance to review your submission, I will be in touch to discuss the options for when it might be possible to have your work featured.

Pay for Readers' Gallery Images

ICM Photography Magazine pays photographers for their accepted and published Readers' Gallery images each quarter.

Currently, payments for a single accepted and published Readers' Gallery image is $10 USD.

You can, however, choose to waive the $10 payment and receive the issue where your image is published for free.

I feel it is imperative to compensate photographers for their work, and as the e-magazine and community grow, future payments for readers' gallery images will hopefully increase. I want this project to be a benefit to the photographers themselves, not just a benefit to my own self-interest.

Advertisement Free

The goal is to create an advertisement free quarterly digital magazine, with new and regular photographers being featured in each issue. The e-magazine will be interactive, with links enabled so that readers can visit your individual links with a simple click from within the e-mag, which will open in a web browser and drive more traffic to your own individual platform.

Website, Social Media, and Advertising

The website where the e-magazine lives is here - www.icmphotomag.com

Additionally, there is both a Facebook page -- where the magazine itself will be advertised on social media -- and a Facebook group -- where ICM photographers and ICM fans from around the world can join and share their images or just spectate.

Facebook Page - www.facebook.com/icmphotomag
Facebook Group - www.facebook.com/groups/icmphotomag

The Facebook group is a public group, with the idea of growing it as large as possible, because the more people who are in the group, the more subscribers to the e-magazine there might be (more subscribers = more pay for featured content). So, the group is open for both ICM photographers and ICM fans (i.e. the general public) who just enjoy seeing the creativity of ICM images.

Posts in the group will be moderated to ensure only ICM and creative post-processed ICM images are shared in the group to keep the focus strictly on ICM photography.

There is also an Instagram account for the project - www.instagram.com/icmphotomag

ICMPhotoMag is also on YouTube, and this is where I will share video trailers for each issue of the e-magazine as another method for building the community around the project.

The YouTube channel may be found at this link

Please feel free to let me know if you have any questions or concerns about anything.

And, please help grow this project and community by sharing the links above and/or social media posts to your own feeds. This helps ensure it can be sustainable and of benefit to all who contribute their time and efforts.

Thank you for your time and interest in being a part of this project.

Regards,
Stephanie
